A Change of Scenery: Work from SALT of Palmar

Mauritius – A change of scenery is known to boost productivity and increase motivation. If working from home is starting to stress you out, bring your home office to SALT of Palmar for a few days where you (and your family) can enjoy the fresh sea breeze, open spaces and an amazing view.

From 15 June, SALT of Palmar will welcome guests back to the homegrown boutique hotel with a working staycation offer of either four or seven nights that includes a dedicated indoor or outdoor co-working space, high speed internet connection and free flow of coffee or tea served during working hours to keep you alert.

While at work, the juniors will be taken care of by trained team members and entertained with creative activities and small group exercises in the pool through our Little Explorers programme. To make sure the children are on top of their schoolwork, there will be a supervised study space set up for them so they can keep pace with their online learning.

Take a break from work and join in the serenity walk with our Wellness Coach or sit quietly for a few minutes to calm the mind in the Salt room. If high intensity exercise is your preferred stress reliever, the circuit boot camp offers the perfect solution. For the health-conscious, a hot vegan family menu specially curated by the chef will be served during dinner.

Working from SALT of Palmar has all the perks and none of the hassle. A slice of sanctuary where you can relax and focus on you, while we take care of everything else.

The Work-Life Balance 4-Night Offer is priced from Rs7,500 per night and At Home at SALT 7-night Offer is priced from Rs7,000 per night, on half board basis.

Weekend getaway

Families looking to immerse in the great outdoors and recharge their body and mind after months of confinement (especially with little ones to entertain) now have an alternative weekend plan. Enrol the kids in the Swimming Clinic while the adults learn the art of crafting, or making your own beauty product in the DIY Workshop. Keep fit together with the many complimentary pool or beach activities throughout the day before indulging in a well-deserved barbecue dinner on the patio with live music.

The next morning, the whole family can soak in the early morning sun rays with a yoga class before setting off to Bras D'eau for a forest bathing therapy session. A picnic breakfast will be prepared at Poste Lafayette beach before returning to the hotel. Spent those last remnants of pent-up energy with a boxing class by the sea and before you know it, you are starting the new week feeling re-energised.

The Weekender 2-Night Offer package is priced from Rs8,000 per night on half board basis.

PRESS RELEASE

Collective Care: The Lux Collective's enhanced global health and safety measures

Caring for the health and wellbeing of our team members and guests remain our first priority, hence The Lux Collective launched Collective Care, a series of heightened global health and safety standards across all of its brands, in consultation with SGS, the world's leading inspection, verification, testing and certification company.

Collective Care outlines clear and methodical standards of hygiene and sanitisation processes across all departments so that our guests can continue enjoying their holiday in a comforting environment; and our team members can feel assured and safe in their place of work.
